Coach Pitch League

2 Age Divisions!!

The goals of the preparatory baseball league are to learn the basics of baseball while having fun! Players will work on fielding the ball, hitting a ball thrown by a coach and hand/eye coordination through catching and hitting the ball. This league will focus on developmental play and developing skills so players continue to progress in the game. Sportsmanship will be emphasized throughout. Coaches will umpire their own games. Practices and games are played outdoors and may be cancelled due to weather.

Parents are encouraged to help at games and practices, as needed to support the coach.

Big Hitters CP1: (6-8 years)

Players will run through their batting order during innings, have the option to use the tee when batting and 60 minute game limit.

Intermediate CP2: (8-9 years)

Our intermediate division allows players to continue learning the game using full rules. This will allow hitters a better chance of making contact and keep the game moving. This is a great step toward player pitch leagues and will keep the players engaged. Full baseball rules including: 3 strikes, 3 outs, 4 walks & game limited to 85 mins.

Concussion Information Sheet

A concussion is a brain injury and all brain injuries are serious. They are caused by a bump, blow, or jolt to the head, or by a blow to another part of the body with the force transmitted to the head. They can range from mild to severe and can disrupt the way the brain normally works. Even though most concussions are mild, all concussions are potentially serious and may result in complications including prolonged brain damage and death if not recognized and managed properly. In other words, even a "ding" or a bump on the head can be serious. You can't see a concussion and most sports concussions occur without loss of consciousness. Signs and symptoms of concussion may show up right after the injury or can take hours or days to fully appear. If your child reports any symptoms of concussion, or if you notice the symptoms or signs of concussion yourself, seek medical attention right away.

What can happen if my child keeps on playing with a concussion or returns too soon?

Athletes with the signs and symptoms of concussion should be removed from play immediately. Continuing to play with the signs and symptoms of a concussion leaves the young athlete especially vulnerable to greater injury. There is an increased risk of significant damage from a concussion for a period of time after that concussion occurs, particularly if the athlete suffers another concussion before completely recovering from the first one. This can lead to prolonged recovery or even to severe brain swelling (second impact syndrome) with devastating and even fatal consequences. It is well known that adolescent or teenage athlete will often under report symptoms of injuries. And concussions are no different. As a result, education of administration, coaches, parents and students is the key for student athlete's safety.

If you think your child has suffered a concussion:

Any athlete even suspected of suffering a concussion should be removed from the game or practice immediately. No athlete may return to activity after an apparent head injury or concussion, regardless of how mild it seems or how quickly symptoms clear, without medical clearance. Close observation of the athlete should continue for several hours. The new "Zackery Lystedt Law" in Washington now requires the consistent and uniform implementation of long and well-established return to play concussion guidelines that have been recommended for several years:

"a youth athlete who is suspected of sustaining a concussion or head injury in a practice or game shall be removed from competition at that time;"

"...may not return to play until the athlete is evaluated by a licensed health care provider trained in the evaluation and management of concussion and received written clearance to return to play from that health care provider;"

You should also inform your child's coach if you think that your child may have a concussion. Remember, it's better to miss one game than miss the whole season. And when in doubt, the athlete sits out.
